Reports of Filibusters Landing—Watchfulness of the Spaniards—Complaints Against Admiral Hoff's Despatches—Manicabagua Burned by the Rebels.

HAVANA, May 26, 1869. The reports of the landing of filibusters which are in circulation cannot be traced to any authentic source. No expedition has landed near Sagua. The steamer Salvador has gone to some other point. It is impossible for expeditions to effect a landing at any point on the coast between Havana and Nuevitas, as the Spanish cruisers are very numerous all along that line, and in any other part of the island it would be difficult for expeditions to find a foothold, owing to the watchfulness of the government.

Sympathizers with the revolution complain of Admiral Hoff's despatches, published in the New York papers. But the intelligence given in those despatches is as reliable and correct as can possibly be obtained under the circumstances, and can be objected to only because it discredits the exaggerated reports which are set afloat by Cuban partisans. Admiral Hoff enjoys the unlimited confidence of the American residents here.

The report is officially confirmed that the rebels have burned the town of Manicabagua. The Sabana Railroad is again in running order. Sugar market dull. Sales made to-day on a basis of 8 1/2 cents per arroba for No. 12 D. S. Exchange on London, Paris and United States unchanged.

A BRILLIANT METEOR.

About six minutes past eleven o'clock last night a meteor of remarkable brilliancy shot across the horizon at a point some ten degrees north-north-west of Altair or Alpha Aquila, and moved over an arc of thirty degrees in a north-westerly direction. Although the night was comparatively clear and bright the meteor appeared not only unusually brilliant, but also of an extraordinary size. It bore a long train of fire, and to the naked eye appeared as if it were a ball of fire, which fairly traversed the effect was very grand. It was visible to the naked eye about five seconds, all the time casting a dark shadow. At first its color was red and afterwards a deep green. In size it was fully as large as the famous meteor of 1859, and was probably not less than thirty miles distant from the earth. But few persons who saw the phenomenon at first supposed it to be a meteor. Those opposite the Astor House were under the impression that the building was on fire; others, and particularly those on the ferryboats crossing the river, supposed that the heavens were suffused with flashes of lightning. Indeed, it was not until the meteor had fairly traversed the horizon that it was fully recognized as such. On the horizon that it was fully recognized as such. On the horizon that it was fully recognized as such.

Continued Election Riots—Numerous Arrests and Bloodshed.
LONDON, May 26, 1869. The elections in France continued to be attended with more or less disorder. Since the 15th inst. 149 persons have been arrested in Paris for creating political disturbances; and of these only seventeen have been discharged.

A popular demonstration is reported at Nîmes, where the people sang the "Marseillaise." At Bourges the prison was forced by a crowd of political agitators, and one of their leaders (who had been arrested) was released. In the Department of Aube, during the electioneering tour of M. Perret, a riot took place, in which blood was shed.

The Election Excitement in Marseilles—More Disorders Reported.
LONDON, May 26, 1869. The election excitement in Marseilles is very great. A private meeting was held there yesterday, at which M. Gambetta was present and made a strong speech. Crowds in the street sang the Marseillaise and made other unlawful demonstrations. Many arrests were made by the police.

At Thiers, a town in the department of Puy de Dôme, disorders are also reported. At the electoral meetings the people shouted "Vive Ledru Rollin! Vive Barbes!"

Threatened Invasion in Favor of Isabella.
MADRID, May 26, 1869. Despatches have been received here announcing that about 2,000 of the adherents of Queen Isabella under Gasset and Ponzola, have assembled at Perpignan, a city in France, on the Spanish frontier. At last accounts they were nearly ready to cross the border. The government has taken the necessary steps to prevent such invasion if possible.

Renar Castellon on the Establishment of a Republic.
MADRID, May 26, 1869. Renar Castellon made a great speech to-day in the Cortes in favor of establishing a republic. He eloquently referred to the example of the United States and praised their form of government with enthusiasm.

The Memphis Commercial Convention—A Southern Pacific Railroad the Great Need of the Hour—Direct Trade With Europe.

MEMPHIS, May 26, 1869. Delegates to the Commercial Convention continue to arrive, and the new number about 1,100. Under the call of the States the following resolutions were read and referred, together with many not read.

The standing committees hold over until the next session, the chairman of which shall have power to call them together at any time, and requires the railroads to furnish transportation; asking each State to hold conventions and appoint delegates to the General Commercial Convention; for the committee to ascertain an expeditionary form of a permanent convention to meet from time to time; asking aid for the Augusta and Brunswick Railroad; for government aid for the Selma and Memphis Railroad, and for a committee of five to memorialize Congress on all the subjects endorsed by the Convention.

A resolution requesting the Southern railroads to hold conventions for the purpose of establishing an inter-oceanic route, and asking means to encourage labor was ably supported by Colonel Crook of Georgia, and passed under a suspension of the rules. Governor Patton offered a resolution, which was passed under a suspension of the rules, to memorialize Congress for the repeal of the direct land tax of 1862.

The morning hour having expired the Committee on the Southern Pacific Railroad presented a report, which was unanimously adopted and great applause.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention the interests of the whole country, and especially the Southern States, could be secured by a main trunk railway line from New Orleans to the Gulf of Mexico, and thence to the Pacific, and along the valley of the Gila south of the Rio Grande, and thence to a convenient central point near the mouth of the Colorado River, in the State of Texas; from which main trunk line branches should be run to the following points: St. Helena, S. C., and Augusta, Ga., are in a thriving condition. Special instruction has been given by the Convention to the committee on the Pacific coast to report on the subject of the proposed line.

Resolved, That the President of the Convention be requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, and to the House of Representatives, and request them to present the same to the Congress of the United States.

The Committee, which composed the representatives from seventeen States, including three members of Congress, gave the following reasons for the report:

First—It is the shortest line connecting the Gulf of Mexico and Valley of the Mississippi with the Pacific; and Second—It is the most direct, and the most rapid, and the most economical route for commerce, and for the transportation of troops and mail.

Third—It passes through the most fertile and barren country, and would open up new sources of wealth and civilization. Fourth—It would give the Southern States a direct trade with Europe, and would secure to them a share in the great commerce of the world.

Resolved, That the President of the Convention be requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, and to the House of Representatives, and request them to present the same to the Congress of the United States.

Grand Rehearsal for the National Peace Jubilee—Thousand Singers Present—Incendiaries Committed for Trial.

BOSTON, May 26, 1869. The first mass rehearsal of the Boston singers in the Peace Jubilee chorus, numbering over 3,000, took place in Music Hall last evening, under the superintendence of Carl Zerkow, and is pronounced by musical critics an extraordinary success. In numbers it was the largest chorus ever assembled in this country.

The preliminary examination of John P. Costello and William F. Prusha, on the charge of setting fire to the store in Marlboro, on March 18, 1866, ended yesterday in holding the accused for trial. They obtained $5,000 insurance on the property burned from the Yorkers and Home Insurance Companies' offices in New York.

Annual Meeting of the American Home Mission and Other Baptist Associations in Boston.

BOSTON, May 26, 1869. The American Baptist Home Mission Society has chosen the following officers: President, J. M. Hoyt, of Cleveland, Ohio; Vice Presidents, William Bucknell, of Philadelphia, and Wm. M. McPherson, of St. Louis; Treasurer, Ebenezer Caldwell, of New York; Auditors, William Phelps, of New York, and Albert B. Caswell, of Brooklyn; Corresponding Secretaries, Rev. J. S. Backus, Rev. E. L. Taylor and Rev. J. B. Simons. Freedmen's Department—Recording Secretary, Rev. William Hague, of Boston.

The society held a social gathering and festival last evening in the Tremont Temple. It was attended by some eighteen hundred ladies and gentlemen. A business meeting of the American and Foreign Bible Society was held in Tremont Temple to-day. D. Wilson, of New Jersey, presiding. The receipts of the year amounted to $40,186, and the expenses, $29,530. The committee on the subject reported in favor of transferring the entire Bible work to the American Bible Society, and the joint organization to be selected after the union. The report was adopted. The Board of Managers were instructed to cause the necessary steps to be taken to secure the union, and to report at the next anniversary to the Public.

The American Baptist Publication Society also met to-day. President, William Phelps, of New York, in the chair. The receipts of the society in all departments amounted to $274,100. Of this sum, $100,000 was for the purchase of Bibles, and $45,075 in the missionary department. The increase over last year in the business is $53,973.31. The total gain of the two departments over the receipts of the previous year is $37,748. Musical and Theatrical Notes.
"Robinson Crusoe" at Wood's Museum is now more than on the first night of its presentation. The dialogue has been much improved by the localization of some of the scenes, and the scenery does not hitherto in its changes and the machinery of the grand transformation works more perfectly.

Another scene is added to the piece, and its division into two acts is a great improvement. However we may consider "Robinson Crusoe" at this establishment, the most critical will find in now finding material fault, and when the "Kralffy Troupe" (who are expected on Monday next), are with their eleven Hungarian grotesque dancers, introduced into the ballet scene, "Robinson Crusoe" then will be in a fair way to surpass any entertainment of its class ever presented to the public of the United States. We have referred to the prices established at Wood's Museum as being for the orchestra and balcony fifty per cent lower than other first class theatres. This is a very good reason for its more rapid and its division into two acts is a great improvement.
